

What Makes a Great Coach?

Genuinely care

Perceptive, intuitive with a deep interest in others

Ability to see the big picture and attend to important details

High emotional intelligence

Humble, open, nurturing, and grateful

Resonate with the partnership model

Perceptive, intuitive with a deep interest in others

High regard, caring, and respect for clients

Have other life or professional experience with supporting and helping others

Curious

Advance Self-Awareness

Open to new ideas and philosophies

View coaching as a calling, an art, and a discipline

Creative, innovative, playful, and with a great sense of humor

Work on themselves unceasingly

Recognize, appreciate, and seek out others who share their world views

Intelligent eager learners

Ability to see the big picture and attend to important details

A willingness to be vulnerable

iACTcenter